Mattress Recycling

Mattress waste poses a real problem. Anywhere between 20-40 million mattresses are disposed of in the USA alone each year, most ending up in a landfill. Waste mattresses and box springs are not only a nuisance, they are a hazard in landfills. They do not decompose, they create flammable air pockets and can be hazardous to equipment and its operators. All sorts of materials are used in mattresses, but the most common items are fabric, foam, cotton, wood and steel springs. Most of these components can be recycled - in fact, around 90% of a spring mattress is recyclable. The Mustard Seed is now obtaining mattresses for reuse and recycling in the Greater Orlando area and beyond. Our service provides pick-up, transportation, deconstruction, and recycling of the mattresses. We are committed to using the recyclable materials obtained from the mattresses for the greater good and making this earth a safer, cleaner place to live.

In order to cover our cost and dispose of your mattress and box spring properly there will be nominal fee of $10 for drop off or $15 pickup charge for unusable mattresses.
