MEMORIAL DAY GIVE AWAY

Victims of disaster and domestic violence get a fresh start thanks to fresh furniture.

Orlando, FL (May 24, 2007) – As most furniture stores prepare to capitalize on the upcoming Memorial Day weekend, Living Quarters—Orlando’s premiere modern furniture retailer—is choosing people over profits. Today, rather than “sale” overstocked or discontinued items, the company donated more than $30k in new furniture to the Mustard Seed—making dozens of beds, sofas, and dining room sets available to victims of disaster and domestic violence.

“We have so much to be grateful for,” remarks Living Quarters President John Scribner.

“If it comes to making a difference or making a few thousands more bucks...I’d rather make a difference.”

The donation will go a long way to help our Central Florida neighbors in need, according to experts.

“Donations of furniture and household goods whether used or new are paramount for The Mustard Seed. We are the ONLY FREE furniture bank in Central Florida—serving more than 100 disadvantaged families per month by furnishing their homes. Living Quarters donation of NEW furniture will be distributed to victims of domestic violence or individuals and families that have suffered disaster and lost everything due to tornado, hurricane, fire or flood. These people have suffered enough and deserve a second chance at rebuilding their homes and family unit. Thanks to Living Quarters people in a need will have a chance to start again with style,” states Mustard Seed Chief Operating Officer Sharon Whitley.
